FIGHT POLIO!!! YOUR HELP IS NEEDED

The following report has been given by Mrs. Janne Dumond of Skowhegan, State Advisor of Woman's Activities:

"Ignorance breeds fear—learn the facts about Polio.

When polio strikes, 2,824 National Foundation chapters stand ready to serve. But only redoubled support in the 1951 March of Dimes will make it possible to do the job ahead of us.

$270,000 was spent in Maine this year—we raised only $200,000. We had to call on National Headquarters for help. Since 1938 the National Foundation Headquarters has sent to Maine $140,028.87 from Epidemic Aid Fund. Chapters of the Foundation will owe more than $5,000,000 in unpaid bills to Hospitals and Treatment Centers throughout our country before January 1, 1951. There is NO reserve at National Headquarters upon which we may call.

More polio has been reported in the last three years than the total number of cases in the ten years between 1938 and 1948. 1950 with 32,000 cases second only to 1949 as the most serious epidemic year on record. The epidemics of the past three years have affected over 100,000 people. More than 160,000 patients have been assisted by your Foundation in the last thirteen years.

Polio does not always paralyze. From 40 to 60 per cent of all patients recover completely; 25 to 35 per cent have moderate paralysis not interfering with normal life; 15 to 25 per cent show marked permanent paralysis of which 8 per cent die. (Death rate this year in Maine was 10 per cent.)

It is no longer called infantile paralysis as it affects older people as well today it is spoken of as poliomyelitis.

There are 800 cases being cared for in respirators. It takes twenty thousand dimes to buy a respirator. It costs over one thousand dollars a month for care of a respirator case.

Seventy-eight per cent of the money we raise goes for patient care. Six per cent for the running of the Foundation chapters. There are 500,000 people working for polio.

We raised $31,000,000 last year, yet we are in debt $5,000,000 at the end of 1950. We raised $7,000,000 more than any year before.

Don't fail us—Fight Polio.

Signed, Your Polio Committee for Bethel and vicinity—

PTA LEARNS OF ADULT EDUCATION—BANKING

The Parent Teacher Association held a very interesting meeting Tuesday, January 16, in the music room at Gould Academy. Mrs. Barry, School Banking Representative, talked on the school banking program, which has now reached a point where approximately $17,000,000 is being banked by children in school. Bethel is the only town in Mrs. Barry's district of 28 states that gives a dollar for every five dollars banked.

Mrs. Fittinger of the State Dept. of Education spoke on Adult Education, methods of organizing Adult groups and the possibilities of having such groups in Bethel. Sixteen towns and cities in Maine now have adult programs, with the instructors' salaries being paid from the school budget and state subsidies.

It was voted to give $10 to the March of Dimes collection. The first grade won the attendance banner.

The next meeting will be held in the Grammar School, on February 20. Mrs. Murphy will show slides of her trip out west. A book sale will be held with each member bringing books or comic books. The proceeds of this sale will be given to the National PTA organization for the new National Headquarters building, the only building in the world devoted to the PTA. Hostesses will be Dorothy Christie, Josephine Whitman and Esther Brown.

VA WARNS GI BORROWERS AGAINST 'SIDE PAYMENTS'

The Veterans Administration again warns veterans, builders, and lenders against the consequences of making or accepting so-called "side payments" in the sale of home properties to veterans with the aid of GI loans. Richard E. Fortier, officer in charge of the Lewiston VA office, said such side payments—usually made for the purpose of evading the prohibition against sales to veterans in excess of appraised "reasonable value"—are a direct violation of law and subject offenders to possible prosecution.

In spite of repeated warnings, Fortier said cases continue to come to light wherein veterans have been induced to pay the builder or seller an amount over and above the sales price shown on the loan report submitted to VA, and upon which the Government loan guarantee is based.

Veterans who knowingly conspire to evade the law by making such side payments risk loss of their rights under all veterans' laws. Fortier warned in addition, all parties involved are liable to prosecution under Federal law.

The VA official declared that any lender who submits a loan to VA for guaranty while possessing knowledge of a side payment in connection with the sale—even though the payment was made to a third party other than the lender—may be suspended from further participation in the GI loan program. Also, the VA guaranty issued in connection with the transaction may be invalidated.

In cases where there is any reason for doubt, Fortier suggested that lenders obtain a signed statement from the veteran-purchaser that he is making no payment to anyone in excess of the disclosed purchase price.

The VA official said the veterans should remember that the provision of the GI Bill, stipulating that the selling price to the veteran may not exceed the appraised reasonable value, was placed in the law for their own protection against over-priced properties.

A veteran who seeks to circumvent this provision by making an illegal side payment to only working against his own best interests, he added.

WINTER DRIVING DEMANDS SPECIAL CARE

Winter driving is much more dangerous than is summer driving, points out Marlin R. Warner, Extension agricultural engineer of the University of Maine Special studies show winter accident rates are 24 to 33 per cent higher than summer rates. "If you must use your car or truck in severe weather, don't gamble against these odds," suggests Warner. "Be prepared. Good winter equipment, extra caution behind the wheel, and slower speed will turn the odds in your favor."

Norman Mills of Bryant Point has purchased P. C. Mayhew's grist mill at West Paris. Mr. Mayhew has been in business there 41 years.

EASTERN SNOW BUNTINGS SEEN HERE SUNDAY

Eastern snow buntings on Sunday two large flocks, of about fifty birds in each flock, were seen in this section.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Merrill saw them in Sunday River valley and Mrs. R. R. Tabbert saw a flock feeding on wet weeds on Paradise.

These birds usually appear before severe cold storms and are supposedly driven down from Canada where they winter. They are not common in Oxford County and none were reported here in 1950.

AROUND THE COUNTY

The Bethel issue of the Oxford County Citizen features an article by Dr. G. L. Kneeland of Bethel, entitled "Shoulder Pains Technical Signs, Tension or Hypertension?" The doctor has been receiving favorable comment from osteopathic physicians throughout the county.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Errol Donahue Jr., Ernest Church of Winthrop and Mrs. John Linahan of Lewiston were dinner guests at E. O. Donahue's Sunday.

No very cold weather has been recorded during the past week. Friday Saturday and Sunday were warm, followed by a little snow and rain and colder weather so that traveling has been a bit too smooth except in well traveled areas.

GOULD 32—BRIDGTON 22

The Gould Huskies took a big lead early in the game and were never headed as they won their third conference game by a 32-22 score. The winners were out in front 13-3 at the first period and 18-6 at the half. "Hoby" Lowell sat out about half the game with four personal fouls acquired early in the game. He and Pete Johnson led the scoring with 10 points each.

The visitors, with one of their better players missing, were unable to shake Gould's determined "man to man" defense. Their high scorer, Leibold, managed only 6 points.

The Gould J. V.'s, after getting behind 2-0 at the end of the first period, came back strong to win their first game of the year. Emery, with 12 points, and Fossett with 8 were high scorers in their 41-29 victory.

With Lapointe showing the way for Livermore with 25 points, the second place Andies had little trouble hanging on to a 17 point lead at the end of the third period. The Huskies played well during the last half, but could not overcome the 14 point lead gained in the first half. With 2 minutes to go, Gould had climbed up to 40-22 when Coach Farrell inserted his reserves. The Huskies came through with 14 points to cut the margin to 52-40 before the game ended.

The boys showed their best scoring of the year as Johnson came through with 20 points and Leibold with 12.

TRUMAN'S NEW BUDGET TO COST MAINE TAXPAYERS

$315,013,000

Maine taxpayers will be required to pay out approximately $315,013,000 in federal taxes as their new share of the cost of the Federal Spending Program proposed by President Truman for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1952. If Congress adopts in full the 76.6 billion-dollar budget submitted to Congress on Monday, January 15.

This estimate was made public by the Maine State Chamber of Commerce in a statement based on an analysis of the President's budget recommendations. The Maine Chamber pointed out that the $315,013,000 share which would be borne by Maine to support the President's proposed federal budget is five times the amount of taxes collected for operating funds for the State of Maine last year. The State Chamber estimates that Maine residents and taxpayers presently bear about 44% of the total tax burden of the United States. Since Federal expenditures are met wholly by taxation, Maine's share of the Federal Government's spending burden for 1952 would be 44% of $71.6 billion or $315,013,000.

The State Chamber pointed out that the President's spending budget, if approved, will take about 80c of every dollar of the people's income. Taxes for state and local governments including public schools will take another large chunk of that income.

The Chamber declared, "Under these circumstances it is imperative that the Federal Government set the right example by paying to the home every non-war expenditure and by omitting all programs that are not vitally necessary." And added that the President's multi-billion-dollar budget total does not include $22 billions which will be spent on Social Security Act programs financed by payroll taxes.

Commenting on the President's 1952 Federal Spending Program and the share of its cost for Maine taxpayers to bear, the State Chamber declared, "In his State of the Union Message to Congress the President said that the Government must practice rigid economy in its non-defense activities, that many of the things we would normally do must be curtailed or postponed."

It is not presently clear whether the President's '52 Spending Program fulfills his promise of rigid economy.

TAXES ADDED 41% TO 1950 COST OF GAS IN MAINE

Gasoline taxes added 41 per cent to the cost of gasoline for Maine motorists during 1950, it has been announced by Elmer D. Packard, chairman of the Maine Petroleum Industries Committee.

"With so many types of taxes to pay, some people are inclined to overlook or to minimize the gasoline tax," Mr. Packard stated. "Yet many citizens will find it among the most expensive taxes imposed on them, and it adds very materially to everyone's motor vehicle operating costs. In fact, the high cost of gasoline taxes, together with other special state and federal taxes levied against motor vehicles, have caused the motorist to be an often called the most heavily taxed person in our state."

He pointed out that the total 41 cents a gallon gasoline tax in Maine actually consists of two taxes—a 6 cents state levy and a 35 cent federal tax. The federal tax is a 14 cent tax on the gasoline tax itself.

He married a German in England and France made him one of the forces of the American War for Independence and in the great war of America's independence. Almost the same American sentiment of his day he appeared resolutely deep and well as varied abilities in deep and diverse the honors of the world all given him by the assembly of Europe. His experiment with the late proving lightning an electrical phenomenon was performed in 1752. But little could Franklin realize how electricity would be developed to become the greatest force on earth.

Yet it is high time we re-evaluated our reverence for the great Americans and the blessings our own country offers in free speech, free press, free religion, free opportunity and the right to own property.

LAST STRAW
By Willard Olvan Persing

JEB ALLEN was standing on the front porch, rolling his morning smoke while he waited for breakfast. Funny, he thought, but he didn't remember hearing Elizabeth get home from the dance. For that matter, he hadn't heard the twins either, but he was past being surprised at anything they took a notion to do.

If those boys had pulled another trick on Elizabeth and her fellow at the dance, he'd have to give them another lecture. Elizabeth seemed to be getting worried about being an old maid. Jeb shook his head, grinning to himself at the thought of the different fellows who had given up trying to court Elizabeth and keep an eye on the twins at the same time.

Jeb glanced down the road while he waited for a match. He started for a moment at the group of figures that had just come into sight. Then he was in a long loping run toward them. The twins, tied together, with burlap sacks pulled over their heads, were staggering and stumbling along, trying to keep up with old Star's slow walk.

"Whos, Star!" Jeb yelled at the old mare.

At the sound of his voice, the twins stopped dead in their tracks, and Star turned her head to look reproachfully at the two boys on the other end of the piece of rawhide that was knotted into her tail.

Jeb cut the rawhide, then went to work on the rope and sacks the twins were wearing. When the boys were free, they sank to the ground and pulled gingerly at what was left of their boots.

While Jeb was helping to ease the boots off of swollen feet, the twins excitedly told him what had happened.

"A couple of fellows held us up right after we left the dance," "And," Bob cut in on his brother, "they bundled us up and threw us across our horses after they took our money."

"We rode that way for an hour or more," said Bill. "Gee, I'm tired and circling him we didn't know where we were."

"Then they tied us together," Bob was rubbing his chafed wrists. "Then they tied us to Star's tail."

"They tied us to Star's tail," Jeb said. "And they said they would dump us in the river if we found out we had been tricked after we got home."

Parents in this place were glad to hear that "Hilton Pinkham" was getting from his long illness. He'd been in the hospital for a long time, and his folks were worried about him. He'd been in the hospital for a long time, and his folks were worried about him.

POLIO—A GROWING SHADOW

CASES REPORTED SINCE 1936
SHOWN IN 3-YEAR PERIODS

*Including 1950 estimate of 30,000 cases.

During the three-year period 1948-1950 patient care alone cost more than $58,000,000 in March of Dimes funds.

The chart above reveals polio's ever-increasing threat to the American people and the enormous cost of patient care borne by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. This year, the forward march of polio presents an especially urgent problem to the March of Dimes: the purchasing value of the dollar has shrunk to 58 cents in comparison with pre-war days, while polio cases have nearly quadrupled.

"EASY DOES IT"

AFTER WASHING stuffed toys,

you may find they need new red tongues or bells or shiny ribbons. Add these to the toys before they're put back into circulation, and they'll be almost like new.

Always plan to sew tears or rips on toys before placing in the washing machine, so their stuffings won't ooze out.

The two colors which are most apt to run in overstuffed toys are red and brown. Cold water before washing helps to set the colors,

but they should be washed separately from other cold water.

Very dirty spots on toys should be brushed with dry soap or detergent before you wash the whole toy.

Stuffed toys have a tendency to float on top of the water when they're being washed. Push them down occasionally after washing has started so they can be immersed in the water.

SUCCESSFUL PARENTHOOD

By MRS. CATHERINE CONRAD EDWARDS
Associate Editor, Parents Magazine

PERHAPS IF WE KNEW early in life that healthy personality development, or character as we like to call it, is a lifelong process of growth we wouldn't worry so much in youth about our inadequacies. That is why the outline of the recognized steps in personality development, contained in the fact-finding report of the Mid-century White House Conference on Children and Youth, is such a valuable contribution to parents seeking to guide their children toward successful adulthood.

First, to review the earlier steps, we have the infant's need to acquire a sense of trust; then the toddler's need to prove that he has a mind and a will of his own—this latter is called a sense of autonomy. The four and five-year-old should develop a sense of initiative, so important in our culture. If these three steps are taken in early childhood, the advent of school years, instead of posing difficulties for the child, will be a happy time in which he can acquire the next and fifth attribute of personality growth, a sense of accomplishment.

During adolescence two more steps must be taken if there is to be a sound personality basis for approaching adulthood. The first is the sense of identity, of there being continuity and meaning to life, something to take hold of and believe in. The other, the sense of intimacy, is the flowering of the earlier sense of belonging, and includes the ability to make friendships, to love others and to respect himself.

With adulthood comes normally the parental sense. Perhaps this is best described as the beginning of the ability to "lose one's life in order to find it." The steps so far have been largely building up the individual's sense of personal worth. Now the healthy pattern is to look upon oneself as the preserver and guide of other lives, usually one's own children, though this sense of responsibility for others, of giving more than getting, can be expressed, and magnificently so, by the childless.

Finally, there comes the sense of integrity, the ripening of character whereby we accept ourselves and try to make a contribution to our world even when we recognize it as faulty. Yet, there is also the philosophy of hope whereby human personality can be salvaged. The fact-finding report of the White House Conference states it admirably as follows:

"Even in adulthood a reasonably healthy personality is sometimes secured in spite of previous misfortunes in the developmental sequence. New sources of trust may be found. Fortunate events and circumstances may aid the individual in his struggle to feel autonomous. Imagination and initiative may be spurred by new responsibilities, and feelings of inferiority may be overcome by successful achievement. Even late in life an individual may arrive at a true sense of who he is and what he has to do and may be able to win through to a feeling of intimacy with others and to joy in producing and giving."

2. Soften bleu cheese and cream cheese with milk... add Tabasco and Worcestershire sauce.
3. Mix grated cheese, onion, diced stuffed olives, ketchup, Worcestershire sauce, and cream.

For potato chips at their peak-of-perfection... buy Jane Parker Chips... sold only at your AAP. They're always light... always fresh... because they're made with pure vegetable shortening only, and specially packaged to protect their freshness. And they're just as thrifty as they are delicious.

Mrs. Mary Mills, Corres.

About forty-five people gathered at the home of Mrs. Norma Tirrell on Saturday evening to meet Rev. and Mrs. Charles Pendleton and family. A very enjoyable evening was spent together and refreshments of sandwiches, coffee, tea and cold drinks were served.

Mrs. Florence Swift who was quite ill one day last week improved enough so that she was able to be out over the week end, but is again ill at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Dunham have received word that their son, Herbert, is in Korea.

Blaine Mills, eleven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Mills, narrowly escaped serious injury about half past five last Friday when he was struck by the body of a lumber truck. Blaine had gone to the home of Earl Bacon on an errand and was walking along the main street from the Bacon home on his way to Rand's store where he was to join a group of children to go on a bus to Bethel to see "Cinderella."

Little is known of how this accident happened as the driver of the truck did not make himself known to Blaine or report it. According to Blaine, he stopped and asked him if he wanted a doctor. In spite of a sprained ankle received when he fell, a slightly bruised shoulder and a badly torn jacket, Blaine reached his destination and attended the movie and his parents were unaware that anything had happened to him until he returned home about nine o'clock. During the winter months when pedestrians are obliged to walk in the main street, drivers and pedestrians must always be on the alert to avoid serious accidents. This is the second time that Blaine has been involved in an accident of this nature. Four years ago last October he was badly injured about the face and head when he crossed the street in front of an oncoming car. If this last accident was any hint of Blaine's, his parents certainly hope that he will be more cautious in the future.

This correspondent thinks she has found out what "The Thing" is. It is that terrible radio interference that has been affecting certain parts of Locke Mills. It is not the everyday kind of interference that we all have to bear at times. "The Thing" after it once makes an appearance is a very persistent visitor. It visited us once last year and stayed for six months and we could not get rid of the thing no matter what we'd do. But one day late last spring, we got rid of the mean old thing, we had hoped it had gone to stay, but about a month ago it returned again one day. About the middle of last week, it disappeared as it did before, we're glad that you've gone, and please, come back no more. To the one who caught the thing and put it in its box, be sure you've sealed the lid down tight, and fastened every lock. Well, I really thought the thing had gone, but a minute ago I went to listen to a song, and instead of hearing some one sing, what do you know? I heard "The Thing".

A WORD TO WORK WITH

Today's word is contentment. Webster defines this word as meaning to be at ease in content, easy in mind, satisfied, willing.

Hardly one must get rid of the prevalent belief that material pleasures selfish indulgence satisfied human intellect, away from envy or ease in inertia have any relation to true contentment. The strong and gentle action of unselfed love give true easiness of mind.

Contentment is a word used only once in the Bible. Christ's complete Christianity refers to 1 Timothy 6: 6 where we find: "But godliness with contentment is great gain."
